ABOUT INLAYS AND ONLAYS

Inlays and Onlays are types of dental restorations used to repair damaged or decayed teeth, typically when the damage is too extensive for a filling but not severe enough to require a crown. Inlays fit within the grooves of a tooth and do not extend over the cusps (points). Onlays cover one or more cusps, providing more coverage than inlays. They are usually made from porcelain, composite resin, or gold, and are custom-made to match the tooth's shape and color.

When excellence matters, inlays and onlays offer a refined alternative to traditional fillings and full crowns. Designed for those who seek both durability and beauty, these restorations preserve more of your natural tooth while delivering exceptional strength and elegance.

- Inlays fit within the grooves of your tooth, ideal for treating internal decay without compromising healthy enamel.
- Onlays extend over one or more cusps, perfect for larger restorations while maintaining a conservative approach.
